Open Championship - Royal Birkdale 2017

Spend 2 days spectating at The Open Championship at Royal Birkdale (20th - 23rd July 2017), whether it's Tom Watson's 2 iron into the last to win his 5th Claret Jug or Justin Rose's pitch in on the last to thrust him into the golfing lime light, we can assure you of a wonderful time spectating at Royal Birkdale from the arrangement of the course which makes for excellent spectator conditions during major events.

The Open Championship is the oldest of the four major championships in professional golf. Held in the United Kingdom, it is administered by the R&A and is the only major outside the United States. The Open is currently the third major of the calendar year, following The Masters and the U.S. Open, and preceding the PGA Championship.

'Upgrade to The Champions Club Hospitality from $585.00 per person per day.'

A short history of Royal Birkdale

Since first hosting The Open in 1954, the course has been (alongside Royal Lytham) the most regular venue for the Championship other than St Andrews. At Birkdale's first Open, Peter Thomson won the first of three in succession; he returned to the same course in 1965 to add his fifth and final title.
